Host(s): Dan Smoke

DAN SMOKE: Aanii! Sge:no! Shekoli! Tunngasugitsi. Waajiiye. Koolamalsi. Aniish na! Skanako:ka! And greetings, you're listening to Smoke Signals, First Nations radio, and we're about to sign off for the day. My brother Roger has just arrived, who hosts the Splendors of the Catholic Church program that follows us, and so we've just been chatting here about our brother Earl. I hope Earl is doing better. I know that Earl has had his problems of late with his health. Our prayers are with him that he will get back into balance and get well. So, I hope you're listening, Earl! Who knows, he may be listening, hey Roger? Yeah. And I also want to say miigwetch, nya:weh to our brother Jason for coming in and teching this show for us this afternoon. We appreciate that when our volunteers here at the station are able to commit themselves to time away from their own personal pursuits to come and help out their brothers and sisters at the station here. And that's what makes this station such a great place to volunteer and to be a part of the community, this CHRW family. So, I just want to say miigwetch and nya:weh to Jason for coming in today. So, miigwetch, nya:weh.

DS: Right now, I've got my wife and my brother coming into town, Glenn and Mary Lou. I'm just going to...I know that you're listening right now as you're coming in. We're going to head out to the Caldwell First Nations for the Gathering the Voices Against Racism Conference, and I just wanted to say that I'm going to dedicate this song to you guys. So, this next song is from our Salish brother George Leach. George Leach, who has been performing everywhere lately since he won two Canadian Aboriginal Music Awards for Best Rock Album and Best Male Vocalist at the Canadian Aboriginal Music Awards last November. And this song is from his Just Where I'm At CD. This song is "Dizzy Dog." This is to all you listeners out there; this is to Mary Lou and Glenn who are coming in. Onen ki' wahi, gawaabamin, 'til next week.
