Segment 2
Episode Air Date: 1992-02-01

Mary Lou Smoke tells listeners about events coming up in the London, Ontario community.

Host(s): Dan Smoke, Mary Lou Smoke

DAN SMOKE: Boozhoo. Shekoli. My name is Dan Smoke; you're listening to Smoke Signals. That was Mitch Walking Elk, Oglala Sioux brother from Wisconsin. The song was "If They Come in the Morning," from the album entitled Indians. And now, Mary Lou has some community service announcements.

[Mary Lou continues with community announcements]

DS: Thank you, Mary Lou. Nya:weh. Miigwetch. And that brings us to a close for this week here at Smoke Signals. I hope you enjoyed the show. Tune in next week, we'll be giving you updates on the Loan Fighters, the Kanesatake Mohawks, and other issues that are very pertinent to First Nations people.

We will be closing today with Robbie Robertson, a Cayuga Nation brother from the Six Nation Reserve. He will be singing "Fallen Angel." See you next week. Onen ki' wahi.
