

The Newspaperman as Author

Peter Desbarats is a feature writer on The Montreal Star whose versatility enables him to report on a wide variety of subjects. Two sets of articles he wrote for The Star were reprinted in pamphlet form and aroused wide comment throughout Canada — "A Minority Report" and "The New Confederation". He is the author of a recently published book entitled "The State of Quebec". But he is also a poet and the author of "Halibut York" and "The Night the City Sang". Desbarats is another member of the editorial staff whose writing has an impact beyond the reaches of the paper itself.
